

Hi all,
I am Linda, and I'm not working at the moment. I'm 49 years old and I live on my own in my apartment – except for my dog Buddy, who is very old and sick. My days are spent visiting my mum at her retirement home, taking care of Buddy and resting. I have some medical problems and receive benefits. Buddy's medicine is expensive and represents a strain on my budget.

Hi all,
I am Jamal, a financial services manager. I'm married and have two teenage kids. We lead a comfortable life and live in a big house. However, keeping the lights on in our house does represent a strain on our budget.

Hi all,
I am Lena, and I'm a marketing executive for a media firm. I'm in my mid-20s, and share a house with two other housemates. We're all trying to save so we can eventually get flats of our own. Luckily our house has some solar panels.

Hi all,
I am Tom, a personal trainer. I live with my civil partner in a two-bedroom flat that we own. We are both committed to helping the environment and have invested solar panels, but it was a stretch and we look to make savings where we can.

Hi all,
I am Amina, a lawyer for a City firm. I live in a nice house with my two grown up children, and in my spare time enjoy trading on the stock market. I see our solar panels as an investment.

Hi all,
I am Roland. I'm retired, and live in a retirement village with my wife. We enjoy monitoring the generation from our solar panels, and try to make the best use of it. We both worked for many years so have a decent pension.
